

Shri P. R. Sarkar, the great seer historian wrote a book on the history of Rarh. The book is called Sabhyatar Adi Vindhu Rarh (Rarh is the starting point of human civilization).

It was written in Bengali. Going through this book we can realize that there was a remarkable civilization in Rarh.

Rarh was trendy to the Kings of Magadh for centuries together, so it could not get proper high light in ancient times. On the other side, Magadh was highlighted gloriously. Because at that time, the rulers of Magadh became famous throughout the world. But here we should say in support of Rarh that the civilization of Magadh was the transplanted civilization of Rarh. Losing its political domination, it was sidelined in the history of India.

It is Shrii P. R. Sarkar who has reseed the honor of Rarh, composing an authentic book on the history of Rarh.

We have mentioned that Rarh is the starting point of civilization. But from which source did it get the inspiration to establish a civilization? Here we can say, following the divine footprints of Shrii P. R. Sarkar that the people of Rarh received this inspiration from the Tantra of Lord Shiva.

We astonishingly observed that Shiva was born on the lap of the Himalayas, but His Tantra was established in Rarh. Clarifying this point Shrii P. R. Sarkar said - "The people of Rarh are introversal by birth, and Shaeva Tantra also has the quality of introversion. So the introversion of the people of Rarh could maintain a parallelism with the introversion of Shaeva Tantra.

If we observe the social life, cultural life and "Spiritual life of the people of Rarh, even today there is a high influence of Tantra. The festivals - named Cajan, Bolan, Jhapan, Charak, are a part of Tantra. The common people of Rarh are highly liberal minded, so casteism cannot bring any bad effect to this land. Also in spiritual life, there is no domination of higher castes. The Brahmin is not necessary at the time of marriage and other special functions.

Before the advent of Tantra, they had no idea of God, but for their Introversal nature, they could realize that there is great entity behind this universe.

The meaning of Rarh is laterite soil. The soil of western Rarh belongs to the laterite group. Western Rarh extends upto the Mejhia Police Station of Bankura district. The land beyond Mejhia is eastern Rarh. It is not laterite, but blackish in nature.

Actually speaking, the soil of western Rarh is the oldest soil on Earth, but eastern Rarh is not of that type. When the soil of western Rarh was created, that was the collection of a few mountains surrounded by ocean. The rain water was pouring down from the mountains, causing a great deal of soil erosion. Because at that time there were no trees, or rocks, the soil was totally unprotected. This soil gradually filled up the middle part of the two mountains and it took the shape of a river. All the rivers of Rarh were created in such a way. Due to excessive soil erosion the mountains became hills. It is said in geography, - hills are older than the mountains.

We know that all the river of Rarh are flowing down from the western direction to the eastern direction. At least one million years ago, today's eastern Rarh was a part of the ocean, it was the credit of the rivers of western Rarh who created the soil of eastern Rarh bearing the huge soil of eastern Rarh . Now the ocean is not found before Digha.

Western Rarh is not only the oldest soil of the earth, the first life was also born in this land. According to Shrii P. R. Sarkar, "When the entire Gondwanaland land was under severe icy storm, a part of Rarh where the three water barriers are very much closed was freed from that very icy storm by the grace of God and a congenial environment was created for the beginning of life. These three water barriers are Subarna rekha, Kangsabati and Damodar. The valley of three rivers are very much close from Muri to Ananda Nagar. The distance of one place from another is hardly 35 km. The fossils of different creatures of the different ages are found here in plenty. So we can say -"It is the maternity home of the life".

We should add one important piece of information here that

discovered the fossil of a

Dinosaur from that very locality on the 27th of December 1980.

Not only did BA'BA' discover the fossil of Dinosaur, but also fossils of many other species in the same locality.

The glory of Rarh does not stop here.

Rarh is the oldest soil of the Earth. It is the maternity home of life, and the first human baby was also born in this land.

In the very beginning of His research work, Shri P.R. Sarkar expressed His views that the first man was born either in Rarh or in Africa.

But after discovering the human fossil from Rarh and observing the other conditions, BA'BA' declared with joy that Rarh is the birth place of the first man of this globe.
